SecureTrip (integrated security content) offers piece of mind to travelers and travel managers wanting up to date information on security conditions and threat levels around the globe. Both of these tools allow for communications with travelers, based upon travel patterns, so travelers can always be informed on current conditions, or reminded of travel policy elements, such as preferred hotel properties for destination cities.

“Travel Manager and SecureTrip provide real-time access to travel data so that travel managers can take an active role in managing their travel expenditures. This capability gives Campbell an unsurpassed edge in the market, as travel management companies typically provide only historical data, or limited pre-trip information.” Bill Campbell, CEO of Campbell Resources, Ltd.
